Founder's Day

THURSDAY, JULY 5TH

At the Annual Service, some two hundred and eighty boys, together with parents and friends, were present in the Cathedral. It was an inspiring occasion when gratitude for the great heritage from the past in a very real sense pervaded the worship; a special significance lay in the fact that here, for the first time, the enlarged school was gathered in the Church that for so many years has been closely associated with Bury School.

The Service was conducted by the Reverend J. R. M. Wright, a present Governor and former pupil of the School; the sermon was preached by the Right Reverend T. Cashmore, Bishop of Dunwich, who stressed the great opportunities for human well-being and spiritual progress which surround modern youth. The Lessons were read by B. W. Jolliffe (Head Boy) and the Headmaster, Mr. R. W. Elliott, M.A.

The Cathedral Organist (Mr. E. Percy Hallam) played as the large congregation was assembling, and he also accompanied the service. The School Choir, under the direction of Mr. J. O. Bridges, sang the Introit ("Lead me, Lord"—S. S. Wesley) the Psalm, and the Anthem ("Lord, for Thy tender mercies' sake"—Hilton); the whole School joined in the hymns and in the setting by Vaughan Williams of the words from Ecclesiasticus, "Let us now praise famous men."

This was a memorable service, the echoes of the beauty of which will remain with many who were present. May the aspirations and ideals set forth in it bear good fruit in due season!

Speech Day

SATURDAY, JULY 14TH

Youth in the new world of to-day, with the tremendous developments in industrial techniques and sources of power in the Commonwealth, has a great future, Mr. W. T. Aitken, M.P., told the boys.

Mr. Aitken, who had referred to the significance of the recent Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference, said far too many people in Britain thought of their country as an island on her own. She was not. She was the centre of a great Commonwealth and Empire with immense resources waiting to be developed. All the new techniques, sources of power, and communications would assist us in developing those resources "if we have but the will and if we are willing to co-operate and work together to do so." The Commonwealth conference was very illustrative of the members' willingness to help each other.

"We are moving into a new and much more hopeful world than we have known for several generations, provided nothing goes wrong," added Mr. Aitken. "We belong to a great family (the Commonwealth), which is one of the most powerful things in the world."

SUCCESSFUL TRANSFER

The transfer of the speech day celebrations from a hall in the town to the school itself was a distinct success. The proceedings in the library, where Mr. E. F. Colville, the comptroller presided, were relayed to other rooms. This was necessary to provide for the number present. All were able to inspect the new classroom block, laboratory, and art and geography rooms, built to meet the growing needs of the school. Over 280 boys are at present on the roll, and this number is expected to go on increasing.

A very good first year in the reorganised school was reported by the headmaster. Stressing that the scholars had every opportunity of doing well academically, Mr. Elliott said they were carefully selected at 11-plus, and for every boy admitted at least four were not.

Since last July they had had 23 boys leave the school, and they had averaged passes in six subjects each. Seven boys were entering universities, adding to the considerable number they had there already. If a boy had the ability and will and was in need of financial support, it was forthcoming from the Local Education Authority. Lack of means was no bar in education to-day.

Speaking of old boys, Mr. Elliott said that Dr. B. C. King had added to his already great laurels by becoming Professor of Biology at London University. "I dissuaded him from becoming a bank clerk," commented the headmaster. J. M. Ross had taken his doctorate in philosophy, making it four doctorates gained by old boys in the last six or seven years from a relatively small school.

The headmaster detailed the wide scope of the school's additional activities, many of which are directed towards the encouragement of hobbies. He mentioned that over £400 was spent during the year on new books for the library, and he forecast that within two years the school will have its own swimming pool.

The Mayoress (Mrs. Aubrey Wilks), who was accompanied by the Mayor, presented the prizes.

Colson and P. G. Parkhouse.

OPEN DAY

After Speech Day formalities had concluded parents were invited to inspect the School premises and to see something of the various activities of the School. The Cadet Corps Armoury was open, with Cadets on hand to talk about the equipment, whilst the Scouts were engaged first in lighting a fire, then cooking, and finally in erecting tents. Many of the ancient documents of the School were on view in the Boarders' Dining Hall, the Psalter and Charter commanding particular attention. The Senior Science Club exhibited working models of the domestic hot water system and hot-wire ammeter. Grant showed the radio he has built, but unfortunately it refused to function in the laboratory in spite of the fact that it was working satisfactorily in the School House immediately before and after the exhibition. In addition members from the Sixth Form performed standard experiments to determine the latent heat of vaporisation of alcohol, the thermal conductivity of copper, and the coefficient of increase of resistance of copper. Many of the boys skilfully answered the questions asked.

In the Art Room there was staged a magnificent exhibition of painting and pottery, and so great was the attendance that at times it was almost impossible to make one's way around. The School Choir gave an admirable short concert in the afternoon.

The Biology display was divided into two parts. The main attraction in the Biology room was the hamsters, which are attractive and harmless, and used in studying mendelism. Also on display were aquaria showing many aspects of aquatic life and many types of climbing plants. Plant nutrition was also displayed by using culture solutions. In room B visitors were invited to look through microscopes at some insect anatomy. Insects displayed included stick insects, Puss Moth Caterpillars, and peacock butterfly caterpillars.

A short exhibition of physical training activities was given by a team of younger boys and this was much appreciated by a large audience.

The exhibits on show in the Junior Laboratory were mainly the work of the Junior Science Club, mention of which has been made elsewhere. The Gas-works attracted most attention, and it was gratifying to see the interest displayed in the Geological Collection, which was started as a local selection of rocks, and later developed into a much larger effort through gifts and loans by boys throughout the School.

In the Senior Chemistry Laboratory, two of the routine Advanced Level experiments were set up, the purification of Aniline by steam-distillation, and the determination of the Molecular Weight of Urea by the Walker-Lumsden Ebullioscopic Method. These attracted some attention from parents, and more from Old Boys, who recognised and remembered their past work on the same subject.

Cours de Civilisation Française à Oxford

Pendant les vacances MM. Walls et Colson ont assisté à ce Cours de Civilisation Française à St. Hugh's College, Oxford. Nous avons passé une semaine tout à fait agréable à suivre des classes et des conférences qui étaient toujours intéressantes et souvent amusantes.

L'horaire ne nous a pas laissé trop d'heures inoccupées. Le matin les étudiants se divisaient en groupes. Il y avait trois heures de classe—explication de texte, discussion sur l'art de Gide, phonétique (avec magnétophone), et composition française. L'après-midi, c'étaient deux conférences, dont une d'une heure et demie suivie d'une heure de classe. Après le dîner, on nous a préparé un programme varié—des séances de disques et de cinéma, d'interprétation d'un poème de Prévert, un "Brains Trust." Celui-ci a fourni l'occasion d'une manifestation fort vigoureuse des sentiments de nos hôtes au sujet de M. Poujade.

Parmi les conférenciers distingués nous avons eu le plaisir d'écouter un discours érudit du Professor Letiman sur "La Philologie romance et le Romantisme"; M. René Haussman, Commandeur de la Légion d'Honneur, qui a parlé de "L'actualité de Châteaubriand" et de "l'urbanisme;" Mlle. Micheline Rosen, qui nous a expliqué le développement artistique de Jean Vilar, et les progrès extraordinaires qu'a faits sous sa direction le Théâtre National Populaire.

Seule une partie de ce cours n'a pas donné de plaisir—nous passerons sur les repas où la civilisation française n'était pour rien—c'était l'excursion en bateau sur la Tamise. Il pleuvait. Heureusement que nous avons pu oublier ce voyage infortuné dans la gaîté de la dernière soirée. Là, la chaleur benévole de quelques bouteilles du bon vin de France a fait des prodiges pour allumer nos esprits de son étincelle magique.

Activities—Athletics—Swimming

Activities this term have been divided between Athletics and Swimming. Training for the Athletics Sports occupied the first half of the term. A number of boys competed in the County Sports at Felixstowe before the Duke of Edinburgh, and an even greater number in the West Suffolk District Sports in which the School won the 15—17 age group championship.

D. R. Miles (Hop Step and Jump) is to be congratulated on being selected to represent Suffolk at Plymouth in the All England Sports, and we wish him every success.

There have been other fine achievements this term, notably J. H. Lawrence's victory in the School Mile in the good time of 4 mins. 50.8 sec. and P. H. Turner (Discus) who has thrown consistently well throughout the term. It was pleasing to note the interest, and subsequent improvement, in the field events, a phase of Athletics in which we as a country are very weak.

The general standard of Swimming in the School is very low due mainly to the lack of suitable facilities, but despite this a swimming match was held against H.M.S. Ganges. The match was lost by 67 points to 37 but some exciting races were seen. Coxen, King and Dennis all promise well for the future years.

UNDER 12 AND UNDER 13.

Five matches were played; three were won, two were lost.

The School lost the first of the matches against Cadogan House, who scored the winning run in the last over. At home the second match resulted in a win for Cadogan House by a very large margin.

Both the matches against Nowton Court were won, School having a little to spare in low scoring games on each occasion.

Thanks largely to an aggressive innings of 50 not out by Fordham, the game against the Silver Jubilee School ended in a win for the School by 75 runs.

Ainger has captained the teams in all games and has set a good example by his keen fielding. The main criticism is that the batting in matches is so much more nerveless and timid than in practice games.

CRICKET REVIEW.

In spite of the adverse weather conditions only two of the matches had to be cancelled. The remaining thirteen games proved to be very enjoyable and generally hard-fought. The record of winning eight, losing three, and drawing two, shows that the XI had a successful season, but cannot express the spirit which prevailed throughout the season.

There has been a marked improvement in the batting strength, mainly because of the firm foundation which the opening pair often gave to the school, and the strong batting tail.

The team's morale did not suffer from the ignominious defeat at Thetford but learnt its lesson with regard to indifference. After losing to a strong Soham XI the team deserved a return victory by 49 runs. There promises to be a strong 1st XI in the future as there are several players with a few more years ahead at School.

The 2nd XI, although they have not had a wonderful season, have played with their usual cheerfulness and spirit.

Lastly, thanks must be given to Mr. Dart for an excellent fixture list and to Wyard for preparing the pitches.

Music Club

President	- The Headmaster
Chairman	- Parkhouse.
Secretary	- Smith, C. C.
Committee	- Hopwood, Farthing, P., Mr. Bridges

On May 8th, we enjoyed a "Musical Brains Trust" whose members were Farthing, P., Howlett, and West, M., with Parkhouse as Question-Master. Questions were submitted in advance by members of the Club and were ably dealt with by the Team.

Our Chairman (Parkhouse) on 29th May gave an excellent lecture on the history and music of keyboard instruments. His talk was splendidly illustrated with diagrams, records, and apparatus.

The Meeting on June 12th was devoted to a talk on various topics connected with jazz, given by our Secretary (C. C. Smith). Plentiful illustrations were given through the means of gramophone records.

JUNIOR CLUB.

Secretary : Harding ii

On May 16th, a Musical Quiz was devised and conducted by Chapman; Fordham ii and Saunders played piano solos.

On May 30th, Baddock gave an excellent talk on the Marches of S. P. Sousa: some good records of these marches were played. The meeting concluded with a "sing-song" round the piano.

On June 13th, West ii and Morris produced a little play which they had written on the life of Handel. Records of this composer's music were played.

The remaining meetings have been devoted to preliminary sessions with the descant recorders that have recently been purchased for us.

Some members of both Clubs have taken part in the rehearsals and activities of the School Choir.

Natural History Club

A certain amount of gardening has been done; attention to living creatures we keep takes up some time. We have been fishing and we have collected plants from No Man's Meadows on several occasions. We have also done a little bird watching.

The Art Club

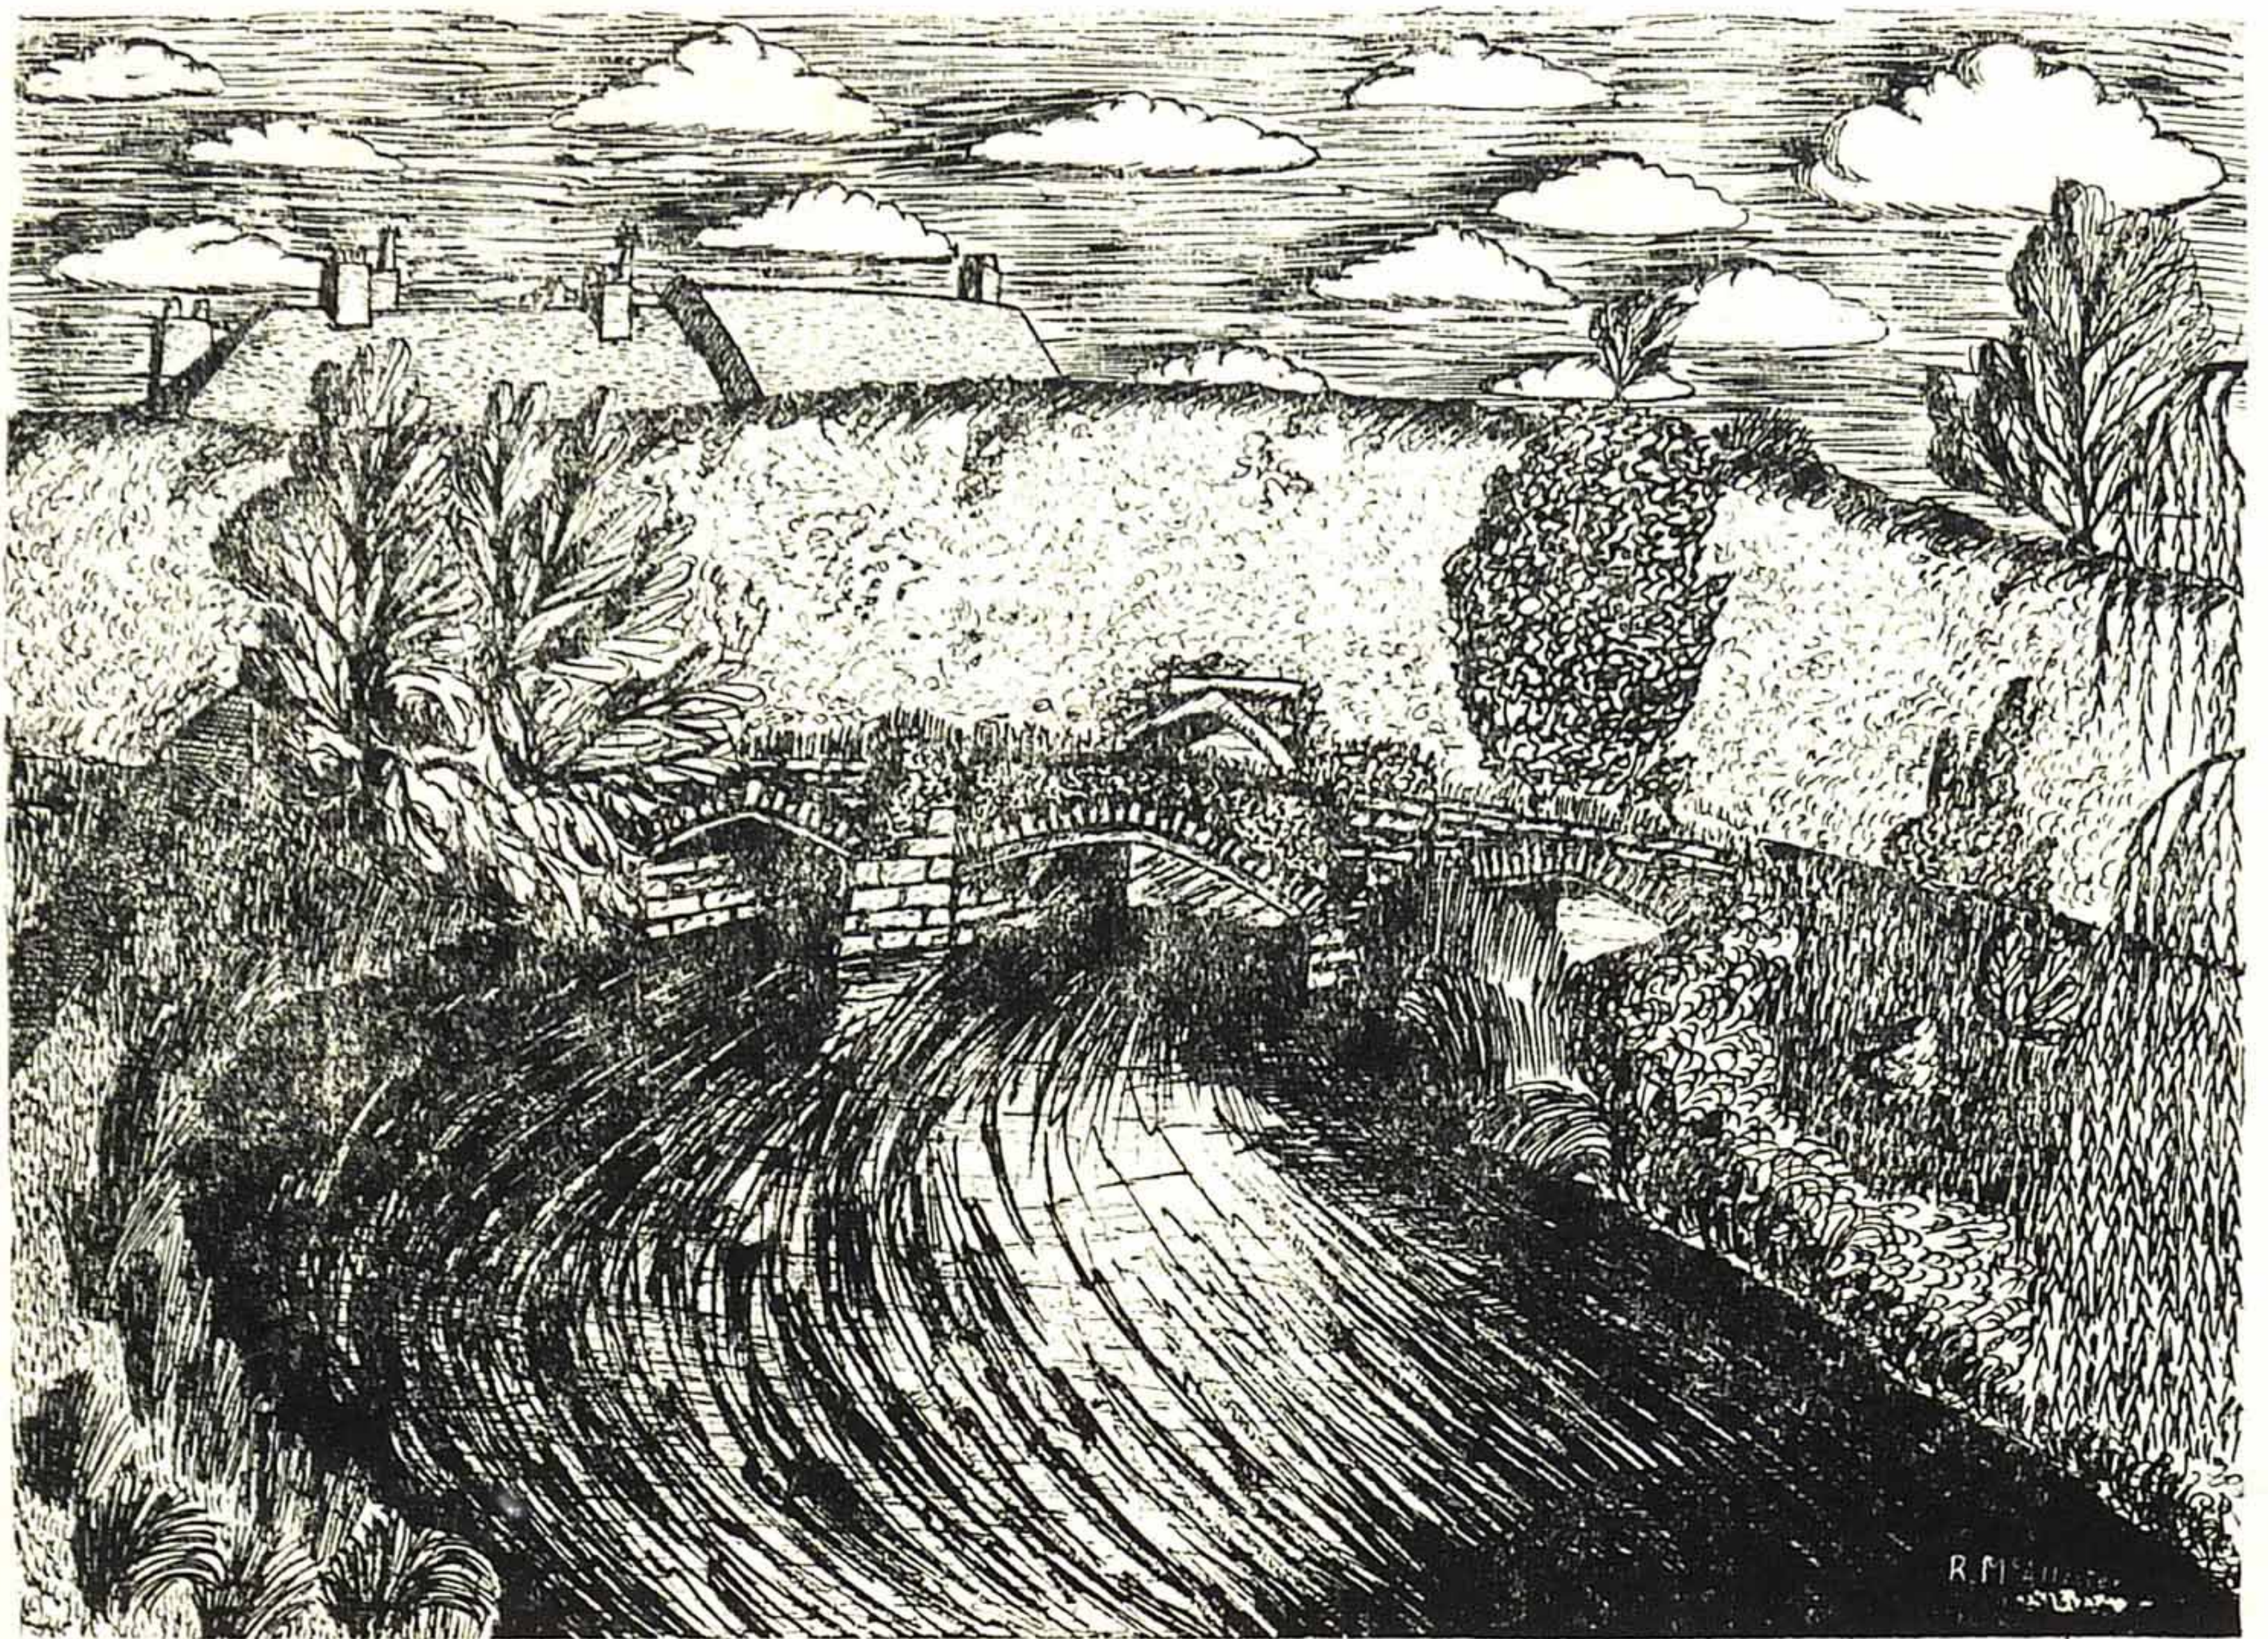

On June 5th the Senior Group visited the Exhibition of the work of the students of the Ipswich School of Art. Perhaps its greatest interest to the Club members lay in the fact that the Exhibition showed clearly the stages of progress from secondary school Art to that of the fourth year students at the Ipswich School. The general misconception that the function of an Art School is limited to that of producing painters was disproved by the variety of the exhibits on view. Besides pictorial work there was sculpture in wood, stone, terra cotta and plaster, as well as furniture, puppetry, signwriting, and the work of the interior decorator.

The visit to Ipswich was concluded with a tour of Christchurch Mansion, a splendid example of Tudor domestic architecture, whose decoration and furnishings contrasted so violently in style with that just seen at the School of Art.

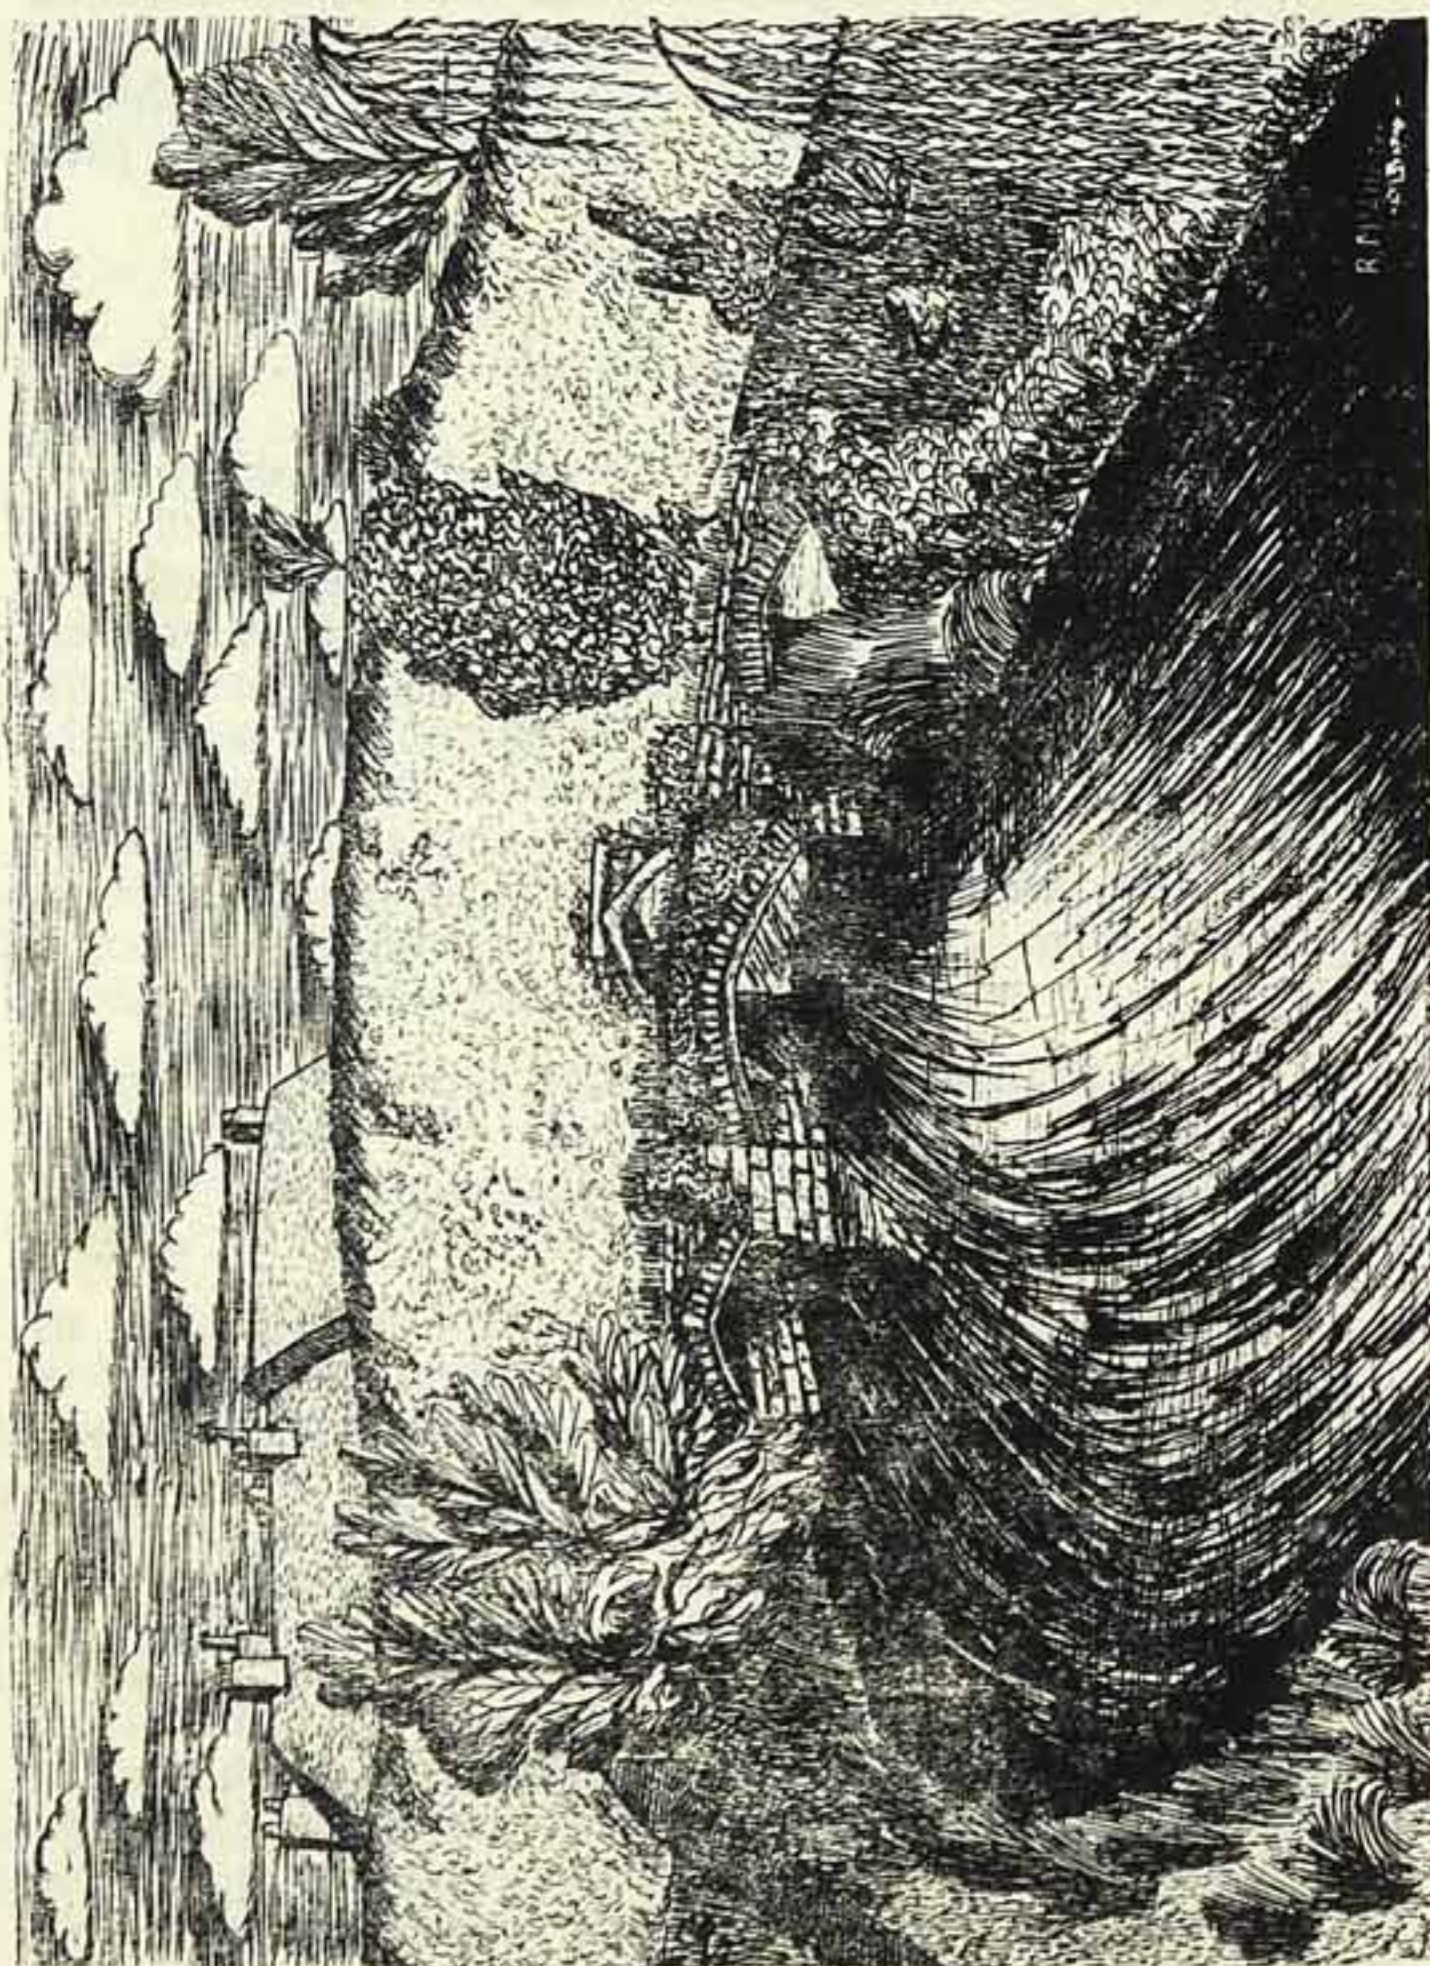

From the giants of the High Renaissance, such as Leonardo da Vinci, to the modern revolutionaries, such as Wyndham Lewis, artists have echoed their conviction that, as Lewis himself has said, "Nature supplies us with all we need." Thus advantage has been taken this term both of the weather and of the proximity of pictorially interesting landscape, and both groups have spent afternoons in sketching.

Like the proverbial candle, paintings should not be hidden away, and the event of Open Day on July 14th made it possible to hold an exhibition of work representing the first year of Art in the School. It was particularly noticeable that the paintings showing a higher finish were invariably those produced in Activity Periods. It has been said that the fishmonger can supply the fish, but that it requires a chef to produce sole à la cuisine. As far as can be seen from this exhibition, it might be said that even if the School has as yet no chefs, it does have in its ranks some tolerably good cooks.

Discussion Group

A large group of civilians has met weekly to discuss matters of current interest. Discussion ranged from finance to modern education, the latter topic revealing, not surprisingly, the opinion that Grammar Schools were not without value, but that the entrance examination was not a perfect academic sieve. The question of nationalised industries aroused some interest, if speakers were not always well-informed.

A session devoted to the modern Press, illustrated by examples of popular newspapers, showed both a diversity of taste and an awareness of the limitations of many journalistic efforts. Some time was devoted to the political emergence of the coloured races and to the problem of the colour bar. This was followed by a debate on the motion "That the British Empire should be liquidated"—a motion that was unanimously defeated. In this debate Hart, Stevens, Austin and Baker ii spoke very well.

The Chess Club

The Summer Term, with other pressing engagements calling for the attention of the Fifth and Sixth Forms, has seen the Chess Club "marking-time", and no great progress can be recorded. Nevertheless, it is far from being in a state of suspended animation—some of the boys have continued their weekly battles, and the pocket-size board has come into its own, so that games have continued at intervals until a conclusion has been reached.

We look forward to a new influx of beginners in the Autumn Term, and to the continued prowess of those who are experiencing the satisfaction of having mastered the greatest indoor game.

Junior Science

A new venture this term has been a series of talks by the boys on subjects of their own choice, and we have learned much in this way about Jet-Engines, the History of Railways, the possibilities of Lunar Exploration, and several other varied and interesting topics which affect our lives.

In addition to the talks, groups have been working at their own projects, which included the formation and study of a Geological Collection, investigating Electro-Plating, making model Aeroplanes, Crystal Sets, and Telephone Systems, and the project which attracted most attention, the working model of a Gas-Works.

This last group-effort involved much manipulative and constructive skill, called for initiative and improvisation, and gave us a fuller insight into the processes involved. It was unfortunate that the apparatus refused to function on the occasion of its public demonstration on Speech Day, but we can at least remember that it did work on its "trial runs". We have a fellow-feeling for the discoverer of Fluorine, whose apparatus did exactly the same thing in 1886.

Senior Science Club

During the term the members of the club have been engaged in model making, photography and radio. Some have occupied themselves with the production of science demonstration models while others have been working on a cabin cruiser and a railway micromodel. In one corner of the laboratory, where a boy has produced a fine model of a racing car, there has been technical talk of such things as multiple gearboxes and differentials.

The activities of the photographers have been confined to developing and printing and some boys can now produce good quality contact prints. They are now looking forward to the day when they can advance to enlarging and it is hoped that they will build an enlarger next term.

Each of the radio enthusiasts has been provided with a circuit for a simple one-valve receiver which can have further stages added as they advance in knowledge and skill. Some have already made good progress in this direction. These boys were also very largely responsible for the preliminary testing and installation of the relay system used on Speech Day.

C.C.F. Notes

The chief event during the Summer term was the Annual Inspection on July 3rd. The Inspecting Officer, Colonel F. W. Houghton-Beckford, East Anglian District, commented in his report on the keenness shown by all Cadets and the efficiency of the Cadet N.C.O.'s. instructing the Signals and Certificate "A" classes.

Two Field Days were held during the term, a Map Exercise on May 30th, and a full scale Field Exercise under the supervision of Major Fisher-Hoch and four P.S.Is. of the 4th Battalion, the Suffolk Regiment, in Fornham Park on June 20th. We were unable to combine with the King's School, Ely, this year, but by dispensing with any actual "defence" the two Platoons, after some instruction in battle drill in the morning, were able to launch attacks on separate strong points. It was, perhaps, not so exciting as some previous exercises, but there was better control by platoon and section commanders than on previous occasions.

Signals classes and firing on the .22 Range were carried on, though somewhat intermittently owing to other commitments, and one more N.C.O. classified as a Signaller.

It was disappointing that only 20 of the 61 Cadets in the Contingent attended the Annual Camp from July 24th to August 1st, especially as a very large proportion of the Contingent have gone to the two previous Camps. Stiffkey, the site of this year's Camp, is not an ideal place for a C.C.F. Camp, but everybody worked hard to make it a most successful week.

C.C.F. CAMP.

With the "end of term" feeling fresh in their hearts, the twenty cadets of the school's contingent arrived at Stiffkey at about 12.30 hrs. on July 24th. Soon after arrival, that primitive characteristic of the human species became apparent—the search for food had begun. In spite of the Sgt. Cook's words, "We weren't told you were coming, but we'll see what we can do," the first meal at camp was quite good, as were most of those that followed. All members of the contingent soon settled down, and before everyone turned in on the first night, the camp had suffered a thorough "going-over", the N.A.A.F.I. (including facilities for snooker and darts) proving to be an everlasting attraction.

The first complete day at camp provided the contingent with its first (and last) demonstration viz: one on "Platoon Organisation" and "Section in Attack." The exercises completed by the contingent during the following days were both varied and interesting to say the least. Most Cadets experienced the difficulties of section leading, one particular "section in attack" exercise being terminated in the middle of a gorse thicket with the comment "I think this'll do" from the assisting officer. Amphibious warfare, waged in swimming trunks, khaki berets and plimsolls, on the local marshes, aroused the fighting instincts of many a budding "Hereward the Wake," while a map reading exercise, involving a short route march and questions on the local countryside, was completed by all in the manner of a competition. Lectures given during the last day at camp on "The Japs in Burma" and "Weapons of the Royal Artillery", by Lt. R. S. Walls and Lt. Lees, R.A., respectively, and a film shown earlier called "I'm proud I am a Sniper," were extremely interesting and instructive.

As usual, the firing of the .303 rifle was greeted with mixed feelings by those concerned, various forms of "shoulder padding" being invented as an answer to the dreaded "kick". Some of the older members of the contingent also fired the Bren gun, the standard of firing with both weapons being fairly good, but by no means excellent. Throughout the contingent's stay at camp, almost all the cadets were given the chance of operating the wireless sets, many becoming competent operators.

The blanching and polishing preceding Church Parade led to a really first-class turn-out on Sunday morning. The "March Past" after the service always brings out the best in cadets, and on this occasion the school's contingent, although small in numbers, proved to be no exception.

On the whole, this year's Camp was of the high standard which all the cadets now expect, and to which everyone has become accustomed. For an exceedingly entertaining and interesting week the contingent offers its grateful thanks to Major R. C. Candy, Lt. Walls, and all those concerned with the administration of the Camp.

The 1956 Camp was unfortunately the Contingent's last under Major Candy. The school's C.C.F. extends its warm and grateful thanks to Major Candy for the large part he has played in producing, in the Cadet Corps, such a high standard of efficiency. The Contingent is extremely sorry to lose Major Candy, who has been Officer Commanding for a number of years, but is delighted to welcome Lt. Walls as his successor.

Scout Notes

There are now 25 scouts and 9 senior scouts in the troop. J. A. Crick has gained his second class badge and J. Goodwin has qualified for cook, linguist and guide badges.

The total collected for Bob-a-Job week was £15 2s. 9d., a very creditable effort.

The Butterfield Cup this year goes to the Kangaroos.

Outdoor activities, especially preparations for camp, have been carried on as far as possible this term.

A display of tent erecting and cooking was successfully carried out on 14th July and attracted the attention of a considerable number of parents.

SCOUT CAMP.

The summer camp was held at Twitchill Farm, Hope, Derbyshire, from 14th to 28th August. 14 boys attended.

The weather was exceptionally bad, with rain every day, often heavy and prolonged, and with strong winds at times. In spite of this the boys remained well and happy. Activities were reduced to a minimum. We had a few good hikes, but wide games were possible only one day, and outside cooking had often to be abandoned. On two occasions the mud was so deep and slippery that we took advantage of a house in which to shelter for a night or two.

Goodwin successfully managed his first class hike. The D.C. (Mr. Barber) visited us several times and was pleased at the cheerful way in which everyone coped with the difficulties.

I am grateful to the seniors for their co-operation, especially in the task of packing up in the pouring rain and cold wind.

Yorkist House Notes

This term has seen another struggle against the Tudors, with the final yearly Championship depending upon the last event in the swimming sports. The relay team could only finish 3rd, however, so the Tudors won the term's and the year's competition by 2 points, the final placings being Tudor—23, Yorkist—21, Windsor—9, Lancastrian—7.

The House did very well in the Athletics Sports and led the field all through the day. The three age group Championships went to Yorkists. The School Championship was won by D. I. Smith, the Under 15 by D. R. Miles, and the Junior by A. C. Berry. The Challenge Bowl, however, was not won by the few, as the team was given a firm foundation of over 200 standard points on which to build. Lastly, in the Athletics sphere, D. R. Miles must be congratulated for being chosen to represent Suffolk in the Hop-Step and Jump event at the All-England Sports.

The Cricket teams, although nothing spectacular, gained 2nd place, once more tailing the Tudors. The 1st XI. beat the Windsors and lost to the Tudors, while the Lancastrian match was stopped because of rain. Once again the 1st XI. was backed well by the younger members of the house. The 2nd XI. have been ably led by Overall, who has had a very successful season in the School's 2nd XI.

In a very close contest the Yorkists finished 3rd in the Swimming Sports. Dixon, our swimming Captain, won the length breast stroke in very fine style. He represented the school in this event at Ganges earlier in the term.

D.I.S.

Windsor House Notes

Despite an early points lead as a result of the Cross Country we started Sports Day in fourth position with a total of 164 points. At the end of the day this position was unfortunately unchanged, our points tally being 304.

Individual efforts worthy of note are those of Lloyd, who came 2nd in the under 13 Championship, and of Napier who finished 4th in the School final placings.

In swimming the results make far happier reading. With Coxon finishing 4th in the individual placings the House won the sports with 89 points, beating the Tudors by one point.

Our powers at cricket were, as the results show, somewhat limited. A draw against the Lancastrians was followed by somewhat disastrous defeats by the Tudors, who bowled us out for only 13, Ellis taking 10 wickets for 2 runs, and the Yorkists. The Junior team fared little better and we finished in 4th place.

This year, then, has hardly been a successful one, but it must be remembered that the House is a new one, and we look to the juniors in particular, as they move up the school, to raise our standard.

P.J.H.

Tudor House Notes

We welcome Mr. Tapster as our new Housemaster. He replaces Mr. Greenhalgh, who is now doing atomic research. We wish him luck at his new post.

First of all, thanks are due to all who helped to put the House at the top of the Championship for the year. Although several years have elapsed since we were last Champions, keenness, especially on the part of the Juniors, can show that this was no "flash in the pan."

This term has seen a great fight for points between the House and the Yorkists, and it was upon the outcome of this struggle that the Championship rested. The first round went to the Yorkists when they won the Athletics Sports by 451 points to our 424. Although we did not provide a school Champion, Smith, C. did very well to win the Adrian Gould Cup for field events.

The Cricket Competition restored the balance, the House finishing 3 points ahead of the Yorkists. The 1st XI beat the Yorkists by 19 runs and the Windsor House by 10 wickets, Ellis bowling superbly to take all 10 wickets for two runs, but most of the excitement was provided by the match against the Lancastrian House. After dismissing our opponents for 51, we lost our first five wickets for six runs before finishing one behind with the last pair at the wicket. Once more, the Juniors more than held their own, winning two of their games.

Thus, everything depended on the results of the Swimming Sports. Our prospects were rather dimmed by a lack of standard points, the Yorkists having a lead of seven on the afternoon of the Sports, but a grand day's sport ended with the House runners-up, not to the Yorkists, but to the Windsors, one point behind.

Finally, congratulations are due to P. H. Turner who, as well as winning the Swimming Championship, swam for the School against H.M.S. Ganges, to K. Ellis, C. Smith, P. Ridgeon and B. Jolliffe who were awarded Cricket Colours, and to N. Proctor, who won Half-Colours.

B.W.J.

Lancastrian House Notes

The house representatives took the field on Sports Day with a total of 182 points giving us a fairly firm basis: however, competition proved greater than expected and the final total of 362 points gave us a position of 3rd.

Lawrence gave an excellent performance in the mile his time of 4 mins. 50.8 secs. breaking the previous record by almost 7 seconds.

Junior talent is most impressive. After easily winning the under 15 half-mile Bullock finished runner-up as individual Champion with 30 points.

As far as cricket is concerned three draws were recorded. Much to our chagrin the rain caused the game against the Yorks to be abandoned when they were in the delicate position of 23 for 5.

Although the Captain finished runner-up to the Swimming Championship the House could only manage 4th position.

One hopes that with the advent of School Baths there will be a revival of the House fortunes.

We were well represented on Speech Day, R. J. Farthing winning a prize for good work and P. G. J. F. Parkhouse sharing with a member of the Yorkist House the John Greene Bowl, awarded to the boy setting the best example to the School.

Lawrence, who hopes to enter Loughborough College, leaves with the knowledge that he has done his utmost in his capacity as Athletics Captain, and much of the success of the House and of the School can be attributed to him.

We were sorry to say goodbye to Mr. Greenhalgh, who left early in the term for a post at the atomic research station at Aldermaston. He was presented with a cigarette lighter, and carries with him our best wishes.

The Careers Officer visited the School on April 4th to give advice to some members of the 5th and 6th forms.

An interesting lecture on the small Atlantic Island of St. Helena was given on July 2nd by Mr. Kerr. The 5th and 6th forms attended the talk, which was very well illustrated by a number of colour slides.

The Boarders, together with the few Day-boys who cared to attend, enjoyed a concert given by the London Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Sir Adrian Boult, in the Cathedral on July 17th.

We wish D. R. Miles the best of luck when he competes in the Hop-Step and Jump in the All-England Sports.
