

SEPTEMBER, 1957

KING EDWARD VI. SCHOOL,
BURY ST. EDMUND'S,
SUFFOLK.

Headmaster's Notes

A VERY crowded Summer Term has come to its end, with our own Athletic Sports, the District Sports, the Suffolk Sports, together with, for three of our boys, the all-England Sports at Southampton. Add to these the production of "Reluctant Heroes," the C.C.F. Inspection, together with Founder's Day and Speech Day and, to conclude with, four and a half weeks of general Certificate Examinations and it will be seen that the demands on all have been heavy.

It will, I think, be apparent from the Athletics results that the School will soon be a great force to be reckoned with and that many more School records will be broken in the next few years. Unfortunately, it is hard to do justice both to Athletics and Cricket and when we are able to offer boys vastly increased opportunities for swimming the situation will become even more complicated. That situation will probably arise next summer.

It is hoped to have a swimming pool of seventy five feet by thirty feet, dropping from three feet depth to four over the first forty feet, giving ample accommodation for non-swimmers to practise, and a further three feet in the remaining thirty-five.

Once again the Cadet Corps did well on Inspection Day and it was encouraging to have a report which commented on its enthusiasm and efficiency.

We were exceedingly fortunate to have such a distinguished man, and so fine a preacher, as Canon M. S. Stancliffe at our Founder's Day service. Rector of St. Margaret's and Canon of Westminster, Canon Stancliffe must have many calls on his time and, indeed, he was teaching in Westminster School immediately before catching the train to come to us. The service itself was taken by an old Boy, the Rev. J. R. M. Wright, and once again our old friend Mr. Hallam was at the organ. The singing of the Choir, and of the whole School, very rightly earned a great deal of praise.

We have had many good speakers at the School's Speech Day, but I doubt whether any has spoken with more sincerity and charm than Lt.-Col. C. P. Anderson, Officer Commanding 1st Bn. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. After the speeches a large number of parents and friends saw the Old Boys' Cricket Match, work going on in the Lab., an excellent Art Display and Miss Kilpatrick's menagerie. In the evening the Old Boys' Dinner was held at Everard's. The only unfortunate feature of the whole day was the breakdown in the relay system and, whilst most of the parents found seats in the Gym to hear the Speakers, only a fraction of the School did so.

With the end of term a party went off to Ludgershall to C.C.F. Camp and a small party of Scouts went camping in Derbyshire, whilst some twenty-five boys awaited their trip to France and of course, there was the usual exodus of senior boys from our midst, P. H. Turner holding the record of having been at the School for twelve years. All carry with them our very best wishes for the future.

We, in the meanwhile, make preparations for some seventy new boys in September.

THE JOHN GREENE BOWL—

I. S. Davidson

At "The Old Vic"

"ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA."

On Thursday, May 2nd, members of the VI form English Literature group went to the "Old Vic" Theatre, to see the Helpmann production of "Antony and Cleopatra." The Old "Vic" was heavily damaged during the war, but has undergone extensive re-construction. Despite its unimposing exterior, the inside of the theatre is striking in its blend of comfort — even opera-glasses were supplied. A large chandelier, with lampshades reminding us of the "good old days" of gaslight, when the "Old Vic" was a Music Hall, hung from the ceiling.

When the curtain rose, the first impression we had was one of light and depth. An expressive and imaginative set gave us the idea of luxury and elegance. A background of deep sky-blue was shrouded round with gold and yellow draperies, and in the foreground stood two massive columns. Throughout the play, the set, which seldom varied, was always interesting, always in keeping.

The characters were, on the whole, well-defined, but they must be subject to some criticism. Cleopatra looked as much like an Egyptian Queen as a Chinese woman resembles an English housewife. Her skin was of the purest white—strange, considering that one of the actors commented that Antony's eyes

"Now bend, now turn, upon a tawny front."

The majority of us felt that Cleopatra's "infinite variety" was not adequately portrayed. The part was a difficult one, and although Cleopatra (Margaret Whiting) gave a fairly convincing performance, yet she lacked much of the essential vitality which goes to make Shakespeare's Egyptian Queen.

Antony, on the other hand, performed with great zest and feeling for his part. His sensuality, his resolution and nobility, were conveyed to us in a very vivid manner by Keith Michell.

Enobarbus played an important minor role in a novel fashion. He was supposed to be the rather cynical shadow of Antony. His cynicism, for the most part, fell into the background, to give way to a very English joviality. His experiment was, however, a success.

David Dodimead, Caesar's understudy, had to replace the advertised Caesar, who was ill. He is to be congratulated upon a performance of dignity and aloofness which carried considerable power.

Octavia, whom we had imagined as a thin dark tower of patient virtue and faith, was found to be a cheerful, blonde, good-looking little Saxon, while the "Yokel" was a rather slyly intelligent fellow, well-versed in the "dance macabre" which Mr. Helpmann, himself a ballet-dancer, must needs introduce.

The dialogue was always clearly audible, and the action never dragged. Cleopatra died sitting on a throne, a magnificent figure in her golden robes, inside her "monument."

The whole performance was excellent, and as we all agreed, worth the somewhat grubby second-class train journey both ways.

C. E. I. Bailey.

"RICHARD III"

"Richard III" is the 32nd production in the "Old Vic" Plan inaugurated in 1953 for the presentation of all the 36 plays in the First Folio of Shakespeare. It was the good fortune of the English Literature Groups of Form VI to see this production in London on June 1st, and a very memorable production it proved to be. It was distinguished by many remarkable strokes of imagination and originality in the set, décor, and costumes: as, for instance, when the doomed Hastings sat at the head of a blood-red-draped council table, cut away sharply into exaggerated perspective so that it appeared like a scarlet-palled coffin or catafalque, and behind him in shadow stood four halberdiers, motionless, holding dim-burning torches, which suggested tall, requiem-candles. Again, the splendour and colour of the Court scene at the death of Edward IV can never be forgotten.

But all revolved round Robert Helpmann as Richard of Gloucester. The subtlety of this portrayal was truly remarkable, and for some of us proved more absorbing than that of Olivier in the film. Helpmann's Richard had a conscience, but he stifled it in his delight at his own success in the techniques of evil-doing. Now and again, however, conscience struggled to the fore, and at the end of the play triumphed in his downfall.

To pay tribute to the excellence of all the supporting cast would take too much space, but mention must be made of the remarkable, Nemesis-like portrayal of Queen Margaret by Fay Compton. The influence of Helpmann's experience in ballet was seen in the choreographic impression of the ghosts around Richard's and Richmond's beds on the night before Bosworth Field.

No one who saw it will soon forget this production which gave all keen Shakespeare students much food for thought.

Athletic Sports

The School Sports were held on Thursday the 6th June and proved to be both enjoyable and entertaining due to the combination of fine weather and, in certain instances, the ability of the competitors.

The Inter-House Challenge Bowl was won by the Yorkist House, who are to be congratulated on winning the trophy for the 2nd year in succession.

The individual champions were:—

Senior	M. J. Whiting
Middle	P. W. Garrard
Under 13 (tie)	D. M. Bidwell
	K. Lane

P. H. Turner won the Adrian Gould cup for field events.

The general standard of performance was quite encouraging although only a few boys had trained seriously for their events. It is only with training, which includes constant practice as well as the correct technique, that good results will ever be obtained. This was proved by the seven boys who, between them, broke ten school records, a notable example being R. L. Flack's record time of 2 minutes 21.2 secs. for the under 15 Half-Mile, a deserved success for his conscientious training.

P. H. Turner, School Javelin, also did well with a throw of 138-ft. 11-inches, beating the five-year old record by over 16-ft.

In the under 15 age group, P. W. Garrard broke the discus record by nearly 30-ft., establishing it at 112-ft. 8½ inches. The general standard in this comparatively new school event is encouraging.

In the junior group, where generally enthusiasm far exceeds ability, there are boys who should prove competent athletics in future years, the best being K. Lane, D. Bidwell, T. Gerkin, T. G. Edwards and R. F. Bridges.

In conclusion, the 1957 Sports gave cause for some satisfaction, especially in the Middle and Lower school, although the general apathy of a large proportion of the senior school does not augur well for the immediate future.

JUNIOR CRICKET

The Under 12 XI. has played one game against King's School, Ely. Owing to a misunderstanding the team had to be picked hastily, but the match was interesting and much more even than the score might suggest.

The Under 13 XI. has played three games, drawing two and losing one. No single outstanding batsman has emerged. The fielding has improved considerably in successive games, English the captain, setting a very good example.

CRICKET REVIEW

After last seasons great success, this terms record can only be described as moderate, the team having won four matches, drawn six, and lost four. However, the 1st eleven has experienced many exciting, hard fought conflicts, made more enjoyable by the absence of overwhelming defeats and victories. This year's eleven has been particularly outstanding in that it has consisted of all-rounders'; in fact, one defect of the team has been the comparative lack of specialists.

The batting this season has not been especially strong, although a number of reasonably high totals have been scored. The various opening partnerships rarely reached the standard required, and the majority of the runs were scored by the later batsmen. Unlike the batting, the bowling has rested mainly on the shoulders of the veterans in the team. Although there is a tendency to bowl short, the bowling has on most occasions been exceptionally tight and accurate. Mendham seemed to improve with every match, and received admirable support from the other fast bowler, Johnston. On changing his pace to slow medium, Davidson immediately met with considerable success; and Hopwood, when entrusted with the ball, proved to be a stock bowler of some ability.

Fielding has improved throughout the season, and each player was made to realise its great importance, especially after the School's defeat at Thetford. Davidson was always outstanding in the field, and few chances escaped his hands. Hopwood also showed great agility, while Proctor's exhibitions behind the stumps were always consistent.

Perhaps the most pleasing result of the season has been the future promise revealed in Overall, Dickerson and Reed. The latter, probably the most diminutive player seen on the square for many years, has proved to be a sound batsman, exceptionally strong on the legside.

The 2nd XI. has had rather an uneventful season, but the Under 14 XI. has met with considerable success, and such a team should develop into an extremely promising 1st XI in future years.

Finally we are grateful to Mr. Dart for the excellent fixture list, and to Wyard for his preparation of such first class pitches.

C.C.F. Notes

Apart from three visits by instructors of the Travelling Wing and by Sergeant Butcher (Signals), there has been no assistance from the Regular Army this term. The bulk of the instruction has therefore fallen upon the senior N.C.O's.

The main event of the term has been the Annual Inspection, carried out this year by Brigadier C. H. Barnett, Director of Transportation, the War Office. His report has now been received, and its satisfactory nature reflects credit on all members of the Corps who worked hard to make the day a success.

Some modifications in the C.C.F. scheme are to be introduced from next September. The Saturday morning parade throughout the year will be replaced by a parade on Monday afternoons at 3.15 p.m. during the Easter term only. This parade, not in uniform, will be for candidates for both parts of Certificate A, and will be concerned with map reading.

Some twenty Cadets are going to Camp this year at Windmill Hill, near Andover. The preparations for Camp involve a certain amount of paper work which would not be appreciably increased if the whole Contingent were to attend. I should very much like to see many more Cadets at Camp in future years: Camp combines a cheap holiday, plenty of fresh air and exercise, and, in most subjects, more valuable and interesting training than can be achieved in term time.

Scout Notes

The programme for the last term has been a varied one but the emphasis has been on preparation for the District Camp. 150 Scouts from the District camped in the Abbey Gardens on 29th-30th June to commemorate B.P.'s Centenary and the Jubilee of Scouting. The School Troop was represented by Goodwin, Sharp, Death, Challacombe, Turner, Blake, Morrey, Rhodes and Bowers under the able leadership of Crick as Acting S.M.

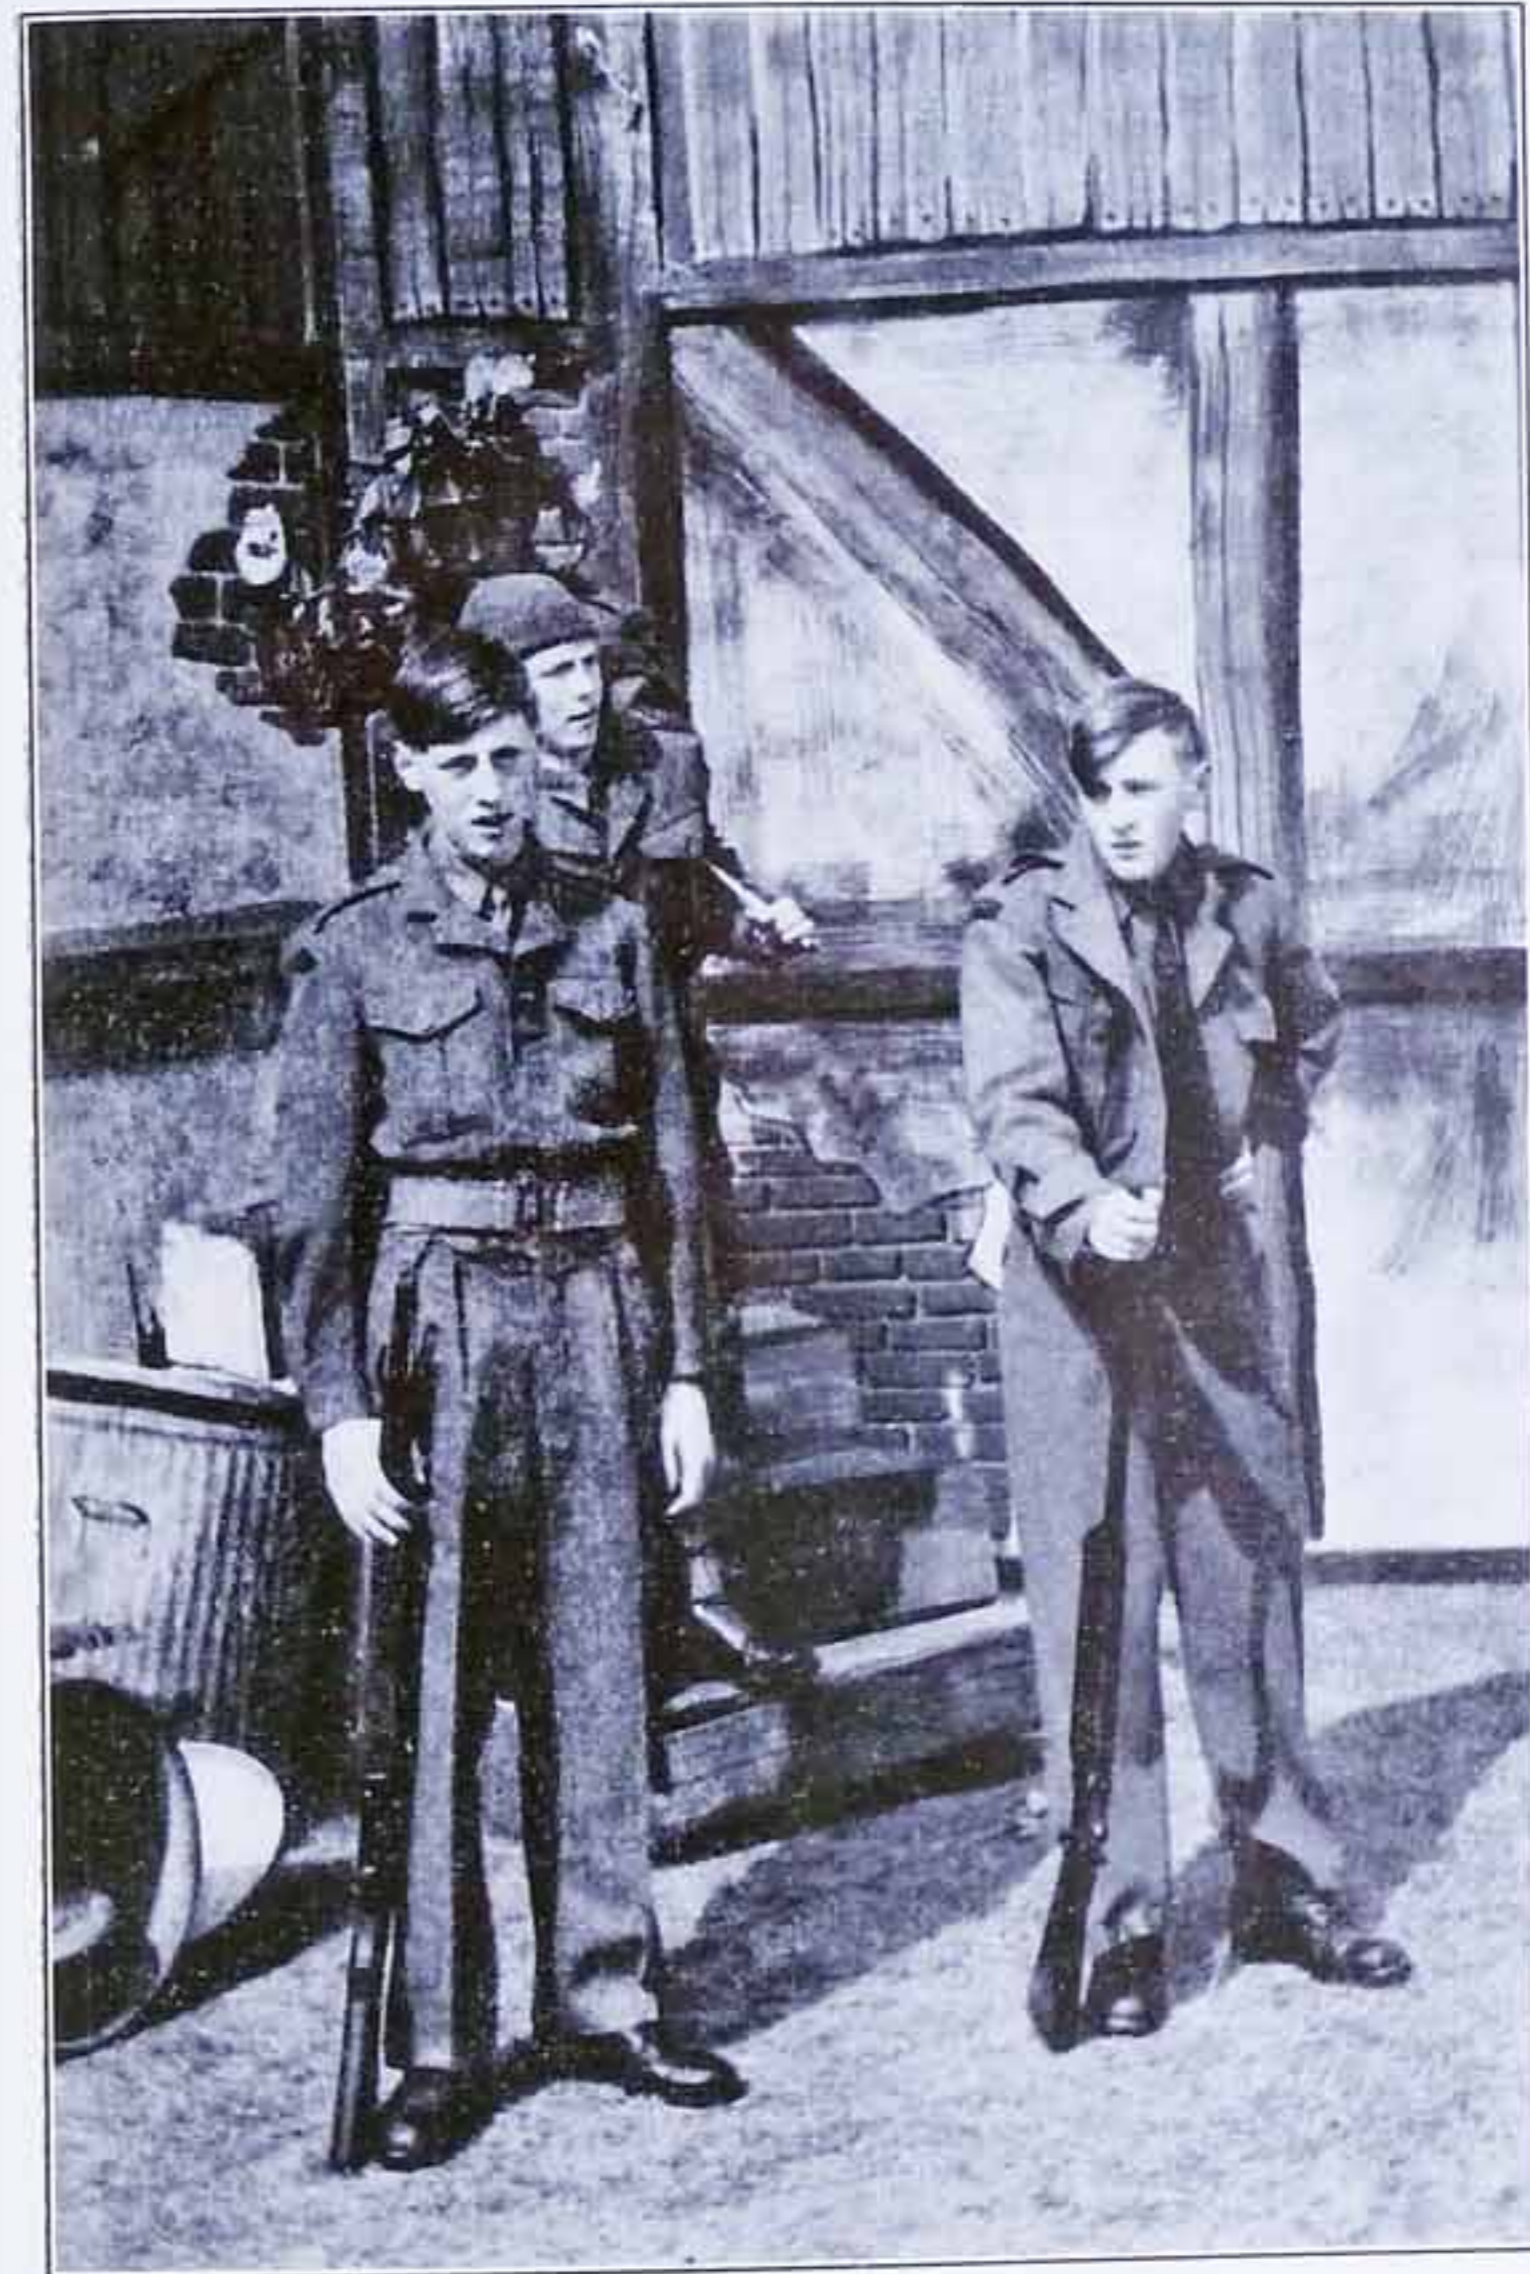

Once again Bob-a-Job week was very successful and the sum of £12 0s. 3d. was raised, an average of about 10/- each.

The Butterfield Cup, for the best patrol, was presented to the Kangaroos for the second successive year. The Owls were a close second.

It is regretted that because of lack of support no official summer camp will be held but Mr. Young has made arrangements for a few keen boys to camp in Derbyshire.

Dramatic Society

June 14th proved to be a fine, warm and sunny day, which helped little to entice an audience indoors. However, when the curtain did eventually rise for the Society's first public performance, it was to a full house.

"RELUCTANT HEROES"

“RELUCTANT HEROES”

"RELUCTANT HEROES"

The choice of "Reluctant Heroes," a farce by Colin Morris, was in deliberate contrast to the previous production of "Macbeth." Morris lightly caricatures the history of the first few weeks of Army life as experienced by three National Servicemen, and their mutual impact on one another, and on their sergeant. The author, himself an ex-Commando, has drawn his characters boldly, leaving no doubt in the minds of the actors as to the types they are to portray.

The tyrannical but eloquent Sergeant Bell, played by Malcolm Tipper, swaggered martially through all three Acts. He maintained his vigorous and credible portrayal of the Sergeant, despite considerable vocal strain in the evening resulting from hard work earlier in the day during "dress rehearsals."

We welcome a newcomer to the Society in J. Hayward, who played Trooper Morgan, one of the more difficult parts in the play. How well he showed his audience that many an unwritten line can be conveyed by acting with the eyes alone! His mild Cockney accent was convincing, although occasional fragments of speech were inaudible at the back of the auditorium.

Previous portrayals of a stern and thwarted spinster, and of the evil power behind the murdering hand of Macbeth were in great contrast to Brian Hazel's present personification of the deferred public schoolboy. As Trooper Tone, he ably counterbalanced the rustic simplicity of Gregory, and maintained his air of superiority throughout the play. In this performance he showed much greater self-confidence and stage presence than hitherto.

Described as an awkward, slow-thinking Lancashire workman, unhappy in his new career, Trooper Gregory was adequately characterised by Michael West, who obviously revelled in the well-defined role. Clear diction and a consistent accent helped in no little way to make this a very satisfactory and enjoyable performance.

Whilst the main burden of the play rested on the shoulders of these four main characters, mention must be made of certain actors taking the smaller parts. In particular, Colin Bailey is to be commended for his lively portrayal of the dapper Captain Percy, and Richard Downing showed enthusiasm for the liberal use of the rather odd equipment of the medical orderly. As in "Macbeth," the part played by the stage staff was of no little importance. J. Crick as stage manager excelled himself in the smooth organisation of an efficient team of stage hands who were set the problem of rigging the curtains, erecting the stage, and effecting a difficult change of set for Act III. One of the greatest improvements on previous productions was the use of a stage, and we are especially grateful to Mr. Stanley Palmer for the loan.

Art Club

This term work has varied in scale from scene-painting for the School play to first experiments in oil colours.

The arrival of a printing machine has provided fascinating work for some of our senior members, who have produced the invitation cards and programmes for the play.

John Drury is to be congratulated on his successes in winning the County second prize as well as the School prize for the Brooke Bond Painting Competition. The end of term again saw the erection of an Art exhibition for Open Day, and this year it was pleasing to note that much of the better work was that produced during Activity periods. In fact there was so much work to display this year that besides the Art Room, two others were used for the overflow.

Music Club

President	The Headmaster
Chairman	Hopwood
Secretary	Smith, C. C.
Committee:	Place, Howlett, Mr. Bridges
Secretary of Junior Section:		Baddock

The Senior Club this term formed itself into a small choral group, and an enjoyable time was spent practising madrigals and glees in four parts, the treble line being provided by a few members of the School Choir. No public performance has been possible, but the value of this small choral group of enthusiasts will be apparent in the future.

The Junior Club has put in an amount of recorder practice, the small band of recorders sometimes playing with Pollentine on the violin: this combination has proved very pleasing.

"Quizes" and record-sessions have occupied the remaining meetings in a short but interesting term of activity.

Congratulations to West, M., who has been accepted by the R.S.C.M. as a tenor in their Cathedral Course to be held at S. Paul's Cathedral, August 14th—29th. During this period, a Choir of boys from public schools and grammar schools will sing two services daily in the the Cathedral while the Cathedral Choir is on holiday. One of the Even-songs will be broadcast.

Physical Education Activity

The first half of the term was devoted entirely to athletics, with the primary aim of preparing for the West Suffolk District Sports held on the 22nd May. A team of 24 boys was entered and they succeeded in winning the Inter-Schools Cup, under 15, for the first time. This was an extremely pleasing result as the previous holders, the Silver Jubilee Secondary Modern School had held the trophy for the last eleven years. This victory was obtained through the all-round ability of the team, 8 out of the 12 selected gaining places. One of the best results was the 1st and 2nd gained by P. W. Garrard and P. J. Gardner in the Discus. B. G. Whistlecraft also performed well in the Long Jump, gaining 1st place. Other notable performances in this group were:—

T. T. Benge	2nd	220 yards
I. S. Fordham	2nd	Long Jump
D. O. Hooper	2nd	Hop-Step-Jump

The Relay team, consisting of Hayward, Hooper, Whistlecraft and Benge, won the Inter-School Relay.

In the Intermediate group, 15 to 17 years, we were beaten into 2nd place by four points. This was due mainly to our weakness in the field events. Miles, D. R. set up a record in the Hop-Step-Jump with 38 ft. 4 inches, although he was capable of better than this, as he later proved at the County Sports.

Other notable performances in this group were:—
M. J. Whiting	2nd	220 yards
J. T. Mendham	2nd	Shot

The Relay team of Miles, Halls, King and Whiting won the Inter-School Challenge Cup in a most convincing manner.

As a result of our fine showing in the District Sports, 22 boys were selected to represent West Suffolk in the County Sports held at Newmarket on Saturday the 15th June and they made a notable contribution to West Suffolk's victory in these sports.

There were three individual winners, Hooper, under 15 Hop-Step-Jump, Whistlecraft, under 15 Long Jump, and Miles, Intermediate Hop-Step-Jump. All three were subsequently chosen to represent Suffolk in the All England Sports at Southampton in July. Miles in particular deserves a mention for his Hop-Step-Jump of 40 ft. 10 inches which is the first time 40 ft. has been beaten by a schoolboy in Suffolk. A very creditable performance. Hooper's jump of 39 ft. 2 inches bears favourable comparison in the under 15 age group. We wish all three every success in their efforts at Southampton.

Swimming Activity

The extremely warm weather has made swimming a popular activity this term, and while the general standard is very low, there are a few boys who show promise. A West Suffolk Swimming Association was formed during the term with the idea of entering boys in the Suffolk County Gala. Eight boys were nominated for the trials, from which five were selected.

Chess Club

The Summer Term has seen a great reduction in numbers, but several new players have joined the Junior section, and their enthusiasm promises well for the future. A small Tournament was held about half-way through the term, Le Seeleur winning the final round. As a relaxation from serious chess we have played one or two games of Lightning Chess, Two-Move Chess, Losing Chess, and even a Kriegspiel, which caused much hilarity to players and spectators but could not be finished. (A Kriegspiel involves three boards, the players knowing only their own positions and having to guess the positions of the opposing men by the legality or otherwise of their attempted moves. The full game is played on the third board by an umpire).

The Senior section, depleted by the call of outdoor activities, has nothing to report. Some very interesting games have been played, but the limited number of players has deprived us of the variety of play which we need if we are to make a real progress. We look forward to more enthusiasts next term.

F.W.B.

Junior "Nets" Activity

The Cricket Nets have been most popular with the Junior Boys this term, some sixty seven boys choosing to participate in this activity. With such a large number on the playing field it was necessary to organise a cricket match on the 2nd XI pitch, and a group of first form boys playing single wicket cricket, in order to give each boy a chance to practice in the nets.

Every boy entered whole-heartedly into this arrangement with the result that there has been a distinct development in cricketing skill, and an infectious spread of a love for the game, as well as, thanks to the weather, opportunity for much healthy exercise in the open air.

W.R.R.

Discussion Group

On several occasions this term discussion was somewhat hampered by the withdrawal of examinees. However, a fair amount of ground was covered. The following papers were read:

The Middle East (Reed)
 The Sugar Beet Industry (Day)
 Atomic Energy (Offord)
 Advertising (West)

The speakers are to be commended upon the effort made in preparing their papers which helped to make them both interesting and instructive. Other topics dealt with during the term included inflation, modern Turkey, transport, trade unions and education. Bennett, Hayward, Sitford, Proctor and McAllister dealt very creditably with a variety of questions addressed to them during "Brains Trust" sessions. A number of boys still find it difficult to make brief extempore speeches on current affairs.

Natural History

Most of this term's activity time has been spent outside, in fine weather. There have been two groups for bird study, and two Groups whose main interest was fishing. Good collections of freshwater life have been made, and P. Wearn has made a good individual record of plants and insects.

Windsor House Notes

On Sports Day the house could do little to make up the deficit in points from preliminary standard running. Nevertheless M. J. Whiting, a very able all-rounder in the various sporting activities in the school, emerged a very worthy School Champion.

Last year in the swimming sports the house gained first place. The absence of Coxan and Stittle meant a serious loss in swimming strength this year, but their successors put up a very creditable performance to secure second place.

Cricket, this year, has been of a very low standard in all house matches, sometimes the result of examinations, but also because there are too many teams, and too few able players.

Senior results are as follows:

Windsor 83-3 decl. (Napier 39; Hopwood 20)
 Yorkist 54 (Reed n.o. 31)
 Windsor 28
 Tudor 53 (Hopwood 5-17)
 Windsor 14
 Lancastrian 15-3

As the first and last results show, the batting was hardly consistent. Nevertheless the season, if not a successful one, has been one of considerable enjoyment.

P.J.H.

Lancastrian House Notes

Throughout the past year the record of the House is one of average results. There have been occasional flashes of brilliance and equally occasional lamentably poor performances

A great deal of the former inter-house rivalry, so evident in former years, seems to have disappeared. All house members should realize that true School Spirit can only issue from true House Spirit. One is a necessary forerunner of the other.

A keen desire to win, tempered with sportsmanship, should be the true aim.

The House has a meritorious and envious past. There are no obstacles on the path of success that cannot be surmounted by hard work. As Lt.-Col. C. P. Anderson told us on Speech Day, to succeed one needs to have one's heart in the task and use intense efforts.

From the Juniors to the Seniors each one is capable of something. The fact that one does not indulge in sport need not mean that one's contribution to the fortunes of the House is negligible. Support for the House Matches means a great deal, and any one who plays realizes the inspiration a cheer can create.

When the Burian is read in future years let it contain records that testify to the efforts of the Lancastrian House members as they seek to lead the way once again.

Many thanks are due to Mr. Brush for the excellent manner in which he has unobtrusively conducted the affairs of the House.

I.S.D.

Tudor House Notes

For our House, this year has been one of outstanding success. We have held the House Championship for the second year running but it is not until one analyses the full results that one realises the great triumphs attained; we won outright the Football, Hockey, Cricket, Fives and Swimming Championships and were runners-up in the Athletics, Chess and Drama Competitions. True, we were fortunate in possessing so many outstanding Seniors, notably six out of the nine School Prefects and so many who have represented the School in sport of one form or another; but such results are only achieved by hard work and a real House Spirit.

If one has to single out individuals for special praise one must mention the sterling performances of C. Smith and J. Mendham, and in the Junior School those of Gardner, Flack, Lane, Gerkin and Bidwell.

Finally, congratulations to C. Smith, School Captain of Cricket, and to J. Mendham, N. Proctor and P. Ridgeon on being awarded their School Cricket Colours.

P. H. Turner.

Dorkist House Notes

In Athletics, the lead gained in standard points was kept throughout Sports Day, and the Yorks finished first. Garrard, the U 15 Champion, is to be congratulated on his fine performance.

The senior cricket eleven was disappointing, finishing without a win. In spite of a good innings by Reed, we lost to the Windsors and were then beaten by the Tudors, although Cook scored 18 runs and Overall took 4 wickets. The team was easily defeated by the Lancs.

The Juniors won all their games. Gillingwater, who scored 122 runs in the three matches, must be congratulated.

In the swimming sports, the lead of Standard Points was soon lost, and Yorks finished third.

Throughout the year the Juniors have been very successful and have not lost a match. Without their fine efforts we should not have finished 2nd in the house competition.

D. Miles.

School Notes

Once again the Careers Advisory Officer visited the School to give valuable assistance to several boys in the Vth and VIth Forms.

The VIth Form English Literature Group are indebted to Mr. Bridges for making possible the two outings to the Old Vic to see productions of "Antony and Cleopatra" and "Richard III." It was a refreshing experience to gain a visual interpretation of the plays by eminent actors.

All the G.C.E. examinees were intensely grateful to Mr. Tapster and the School Drama Society for providing a welcome break from pre-exam tension with the exhilarating performance of "Reluctant Heroes".

An impressive Founders Day Service took place on the 4th of July, in which the choir gave an excellent rendering of "O Holy Spirit, Lord of Grace," by Christopher Tye.

Contrary to all expectations the rain which usually accompanies the School on its visit to Fenners, Cambridge, to see the current touring side play the University, was comparatively restricted. An excellent batting display was provided by the West Indians. One junior came home with a feeling of pride knowing that he had bowled the West Indian Captain in the nets.

The prowess of the School in the Athletic Sphere is well illustrated by the fine performances from the School representatives in the District Sports at Newmarket and indeed at our own Sports Day, in which seven records were broken.

Three boys, Whistlecraft, Hooper and Miles, have been chosen to represent Suffolk at the All England Sports.

Old Boys' Notes

The Old Boys have recently formed a Sports section with the intention of entering a football team in one of the local leagues next season. R. B. Abbott is Honorary Secretary and D. M. Rush Honorary Treasurer.

Congratulations to J. M. Abbott on his recent marriage.

D. I. Smith is in an Artillery Survey Battery at Larkhill.

A recent letter asked for information about the brothers of a Miss Buck of St. Mary's Square who married Thomas Clarkson, the abolitionist. Unfortunately, as so often happens, no record could be found.

S. H. Ringrose, of the Bank of British West Africa, Port Harcourt, Nigeria, will complete eighteen months service in November and then come home on leave. He is an assistant accountant with some dozen Africans under him. He has been on several boat trips to Bonny at the mouth of the delta of the Niger. Work commences at 7.30 a.m. in the morning and ends at about 4.0 p.m. The sun rises throughout the year at about 6.30 a.m. and sets at about 7.0 p.m. which means a rush for any evening sport on working days.

J. V. Hughes is a Technical Assistant at Microcells, a plastics firm in Camberley. To his French he has added Malay, Italian, German and Norwegian.

Congratulations to Mrs. Gilbert and O. J. W. Gilbert on the birth of twin daughters.

R. J. Wade is now working with the Colonial Survey Department at Surbiton.

Congratulations and best wishes to H. N. Bass on his recent marriage. The best man was Dudley Clarke and the ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Arnold Taylor—both Old Boys of the School.

We were very pleased to welcome R. B. Windsor and his wife, home from Rhodesia.

P. C. Fryer obtained a Third Class in the recent examinations for Part I of the National Sciences Tripos.

D. W. Mayhew has been appointed Assistant Engineer and Surveyor to the Depwade R.D.C. at Pulham Market.

P. Spicer, an Old Boy of the County Grammar School, has been awarded the Jelf medal by King's College, London, for being the most outstanding student of the Faculty of Medicine for the past session.

J. F. MacCulloch has been admitted to Metropolitan-Vickers' Probationary College Apprenticeship Course and has been awarded a Maintenance Scholarship.

At the end of his second year in the Dental Course at King's College, Newcastle, G. D. Morley has been awarded the Class Prize for Physiology.

In Memoriam

We regret to announce the death of Frank Burrell at the age of 83. A great student of bird life, he was also a pioneer of motoring and one of the oldest recorder of rainfall and weather. In December, 1891 he walked from Ross-on-Wye in Herefordshire to Fornham St. Martin, a distance of 180 miles, taking eight and a half days. He had bought two ploughing engines, and the only way to get them home was by walking in front with a red flag.

We also regret to announce the death of J. A. Cobbald at the age of twenty two. John Cobbald was a student at the Royal Agricultural College, Cirencester, and was fatally injured in a car accident.
