The Burian.

July, 1947.

KING EDWARD VI. SCHOOL,
BURY ST. EDMUND'S,
SUFFOLK.

Paitorial.

THIS term has brought with it no further increase in the number of suitable articles submitted for the Burien —nil; this state of affairs is unfortunate since it is not true to say that we have no boys here who are capable of writing good English. With apologies, then, we present this number of the Burien; one and all should be prepared to make the next number a more faithful index of the thoughts of the whole School.

Mounder's Day, 1947.

A large congregation of nearly two hundred boys, together with parents and friends, assembled in the Cathedral on Thursday, July 3rd, to celebrate the three-hundred-and-ninety-seventh anniversary of the School's Foundation. The service was conducted by the Precentor (the Rev. R. T. Lambert), the First Lesson being read by the Head Boy (M. R. Wilson) and the Second by the Chairman of the Governors (Mr. E. W. Steward).

In his address, the Dean of Bocking (the Very Rev. W. J. Brown, B.D.), acknowledged the great work of the Grammar Schools for many generations, and the community spirit which they have evoked.

A great expansion was now taking place in the educational service of the nation, especially in regard to secondary education, but it was of paramount importance that we should maintain a high standard, not allowing it to decline because of expansiveness.

"There is a danger of losing ourselves in a great deal of organisation and the like," declared the Dean, "and not having before us any clear objective in education."

The aim and purpose of education, and certainly of Secondary and Grammar School education, must be to keep a proper perspective in respect of three traditions—the Classical, the Christian, and the Scientific. That was the particular problem of our time.

The collection, including subscriptions sent to the Headmaster prior to Founder's Day, amounted to £18 12s. 1d. This was later-increased to £21 7s. 1d. After the payment of expenses the balance will be paid into the Headmaster's Fund for extra school activities.

Swimming.

The swimming season is all too short, but the weather has been good and little opportunity lost. A number of boys have learned to swim, but many have still to realise the value of good style, and the use of standard strokes.

The Standard Point System was arranged to promote a more general proficiency in the water. Some hard work was put in, with very satisfactory results.

Ertra School Activities.

The Headmaster has opened a special fund in order to early adequate financial support for the various out-of-school activities. Whilst it is true that the School will receive yearly grants to cover such expenses as team travel, there is a very real danger that the amount of the grant may not permit of such extended activity as we all desire. A generous donation to this fund will be made from the collection taken at the Founder's Day Service and it is hoped that there will be many Old Boys and Parents who will give a subscription.

CRICKET REVIEW.

This term, although the School XI, has met with moderate success only, some very enjoyable gumes have been played, the Old Boys' match in particular. The School XI, was severely handicapped at the beginning by lack of bowling strength, but bowlers have now been found who should be a credit to the School XI, next year. Both batting and fielding have improved all round. The 2nd XI, under the able captaincy of Marshall, has been very successful, and the Junios, although they have won one game only, have played very well.

CHARACTERS OF THE ELEVEN.

- J. F. FORDHAM (Capt). Has been a good captain and one setting: a splendid example in the field. He has been a very alert "silly mid-off," capable of catching most things. His batting has improved slightly by his developing a little more defence. As a bowler he has been the chief match-winning factor in the XI. When he gets more rhythm in his run and more body swing at the moment of delivery he will be really fast.
- *T. W. Blumfield (Vice-Capt). Is one of the steadiest bats in the team, with a beautiful "leg glance," but he should make more use of his shoulders to drive the ball hard. Guards his wicket very well. A good change bowler who would achieve greater success by bowling on the wicket instead of outside the off-stump. A safe catch and very good fielder.

- *R. L. DODDS. The best all-rounder in the team, and the claverest bowler the School has had for many years. By sending down a mixture of fast leg-breaks and slower off-breaks, he is quite capable of beating any batsman. However, he must learn that "short" balls are very costly. His batting has greatly improved and he has a powerful leg and off drive. Fielding is good. Fully deserves his colours.
- *B. J. BARRATT. A very fine bat who guards his wicket well and stands up to the bowling. Has a powerful leg shot, but must develop a better off-drive. Barratt is the new bowling discovery—a tireless one with a consistent length and sound sense of field placing, and he too is capable of beating a good batsman. Always alert in the field and is a very safe catch.
- *C. A. CLARK. A good opening bat, with a powerful off-drive. His battung is really a delight to watch. However, the must develop a better leg stroke. Running between the wickets has improved of late. A safe wicket-keeper who has stood up to the fast bowling very well. A safe catch, but stumping could be improved.
- *J. M. Ross. A very keen cricketer who has been out of luck this season. Can always play a straight bat and produce a good off-shot. Must guard against l.b.w. A good fielder and a very safe catch, but throwing-in has room for improvement. Although untried as a bowler may develop into an effective "off-break" bowler next year.
- *R. O. HUGHES. His batting has not reached last year's standard, and after a good beginning it has sadly deteriorated. Has lost confidence in himself. Fielding in the slips has greatly improved of late. Should develop into an effective bowler, but his direction must improve.
- 4R. B. WATSON. Another player whose batting has not reached last year's standard. Can drive a ball well, and has curbed his tendency to "poke" at tempting balls. Must learn to play a ball on the leg, and not step back and play it across the wicket. A very good out-fielder with a safe catch and good throwin. Very promising all round.
- †B. R. Rush. Has proved himself a good bat. Not afraid of any kind of bowling, drives the ball hard on both sides of the wicket. In the field he is always alert, is a safe catch, and has a good throw-in. Again, untried as a bowler, he will prove his worth next year. Very keen.

- M. O. R. MINNS. A newcomer to the School XI, whose batting has not reached expectations. Would do better if he stood up to the bowling and did not bend his knees. Must curb his tendency to "snick" at balls on the off-side of the wicket. Will develop into a steady bat. Fielding has been very good. Always alert and a safe catch. Very keen.
- G. I. MARSHALL. Has captained the 2nd XI, very well and achieved considerable success as an off-break bowler. His limited amount of bowling in the first XI. has been good, but, like Blumfield, would achieve greater success by bowling on the wicket. An unorthodox bat, who, if he stands up to the bowling, should make some useful scores. Very keen but rather slow in the outfield. Fielding is generally good.

Also played-

- D. G. SMITH. The most promising batsman in the team. Has cultivated a beautiful off-shot and can drive a ball hard on the leg, but must use these strokes as much in a match as in the nets. A good fielder whose catching and throwing-in are excellent.
- J. C. DUNN. A batsman who has a good stance at the wicket. Does not drive the ball hard enough, and must stand up to the bowling and develop a better leg-stroke. In the field he is rather slow. Throws-in are erratic and catching is weak.

The Burian. Switzerland, 1947.

Eleven o'clock on August 21st saw us on board the Lake Steamer "Unterwalden," on Lake Lucerne - the Vierwaldstättersee or lake of the four wooded Cantons, Sunlight sparkled on the wavelets, the rocky crags and precipices of Mt. Pilatus arose out of the lake to the west and Seelisberg, our destination, lay two hours ahead on the side of the long valley. The journey lay behind us; the questions, whether our tickets to Folkestone would reach us at Charing Cross and whether twelve members of the party would miss the train at Calais, were answered. We were in Switzerland. We had passed through the war stricken railway stations of France and experienced the astonishing contrast of Swiss plenty at Basle, where the boys' small rations of Swiss francs melted before the piles of oranges, bananas, and chocolate on the laden stalls. We had travelled through the beautiful painted landscape to Lucerne and now had only the short ascent by the funicular between us and our hotel. The Sonnenburg provided spacious comfortable rooms, beds made up as a kind of sandwich (mattress below, boy, mattress above), and a lift which was about to experience a life of considerable activity over the next ten days. Our arrival brought the only wet day for months, but after that it "set fair" for the rest of our

Another school party from Epsom College was in residence, feeling no doubt, with two days' seniority, something like a collective "oldest inhabitant" of Seelisberg-we felt the same a few days later when a girls' school from Coventry arrived!

"So this is Switzerland" we said as our francs began to dissolve into the well-stocked shops and our vouchers translated into bottles of "pop," ice cream, and boat and train fares.

One magazine of course will not suffice to contain the whole account of all we did and saw in Switzerland: the splendid hotel, the "Continental" breakfast, the ample lunch and dinner, the mysterious "packed" lunch with its slabs of bread, slice of ham, hard-boiled egg and succulent sausage-a kind of daily lucky packet-incidentally luckier than the breakfast packet which four boys bought for 400 French francs on the way home!

But there were high spots in the tour. There was the trip to Zurich where a dozen vouthful wrists were garnished with watches and there was a clock-work motor car which went left, right and in reverse, and brought a lot of happiness back to England. Then the excursion to Engelberg, Trübsee, and the Joch Pass. It began with a journey by boat and bus to Stans where a brisk one-way trade in cheese was done, a stage by rack-and-pinion railway to Engelberg, a sharp ascent by funicular to the cable car across the valley-32 people in a car suspended from two steel ropes (31 of them wondering whether the ropes were really strong enough), and cow bells jingling hundreds of feet below-to Trübsee, a lake about 6000 feet above sea level. Then by ski lift (individual chairs on an endless ropeway 50 feet or more above ground) to the Joch Pass, the travellers gliding into the cloud, and disappearing up the slope to 7000 feet.

Another day found us at the Rhone Glacier, an unbelievable mass of ice and rock melting below us to form a greenygrey, soupy stream destined to become the River Rhone. This excursion took us by luxury coach along the St. Gotthard route to Andermatt, through a U shaped valley between bare jagged peaks and pinnacles to the Furka Pass and on to the Rhone Glacier. This incredible piece of Switzerland has been pierced by the enterprising Swiss to form an ice grotto, and for 80 cms, one has the unforgettable experience of walking for 50 feet or so into the glacier. From here to the Grimsell Pass was an exciting series of hairpin bends, down and up and then over the pass into a tremendous amphitheatre of icescraped rock, the floor dammed to form a lake, the source of the River Aar. Here, rising above the lake, is the Grimsell Hospice. We followed the Aar Valley to the famous Meiningen Gorge, a deep, narrow cleft through which the river roars for half a mile between walls of solid rock. Here for a franc the tourist can walk the whole length of the gorge on a platform built out over the river while the coach continues along the road and picks up the party at Meiningen. This is enough for one day, but once more the road climbs, this time over the Brunig Pass and down to Sarnen and back to Lake Lucerne. Crossing the Brunig and looking back we could see the sun setting behind the Jungfrau, and Eiger, good measure on a journey already overflowing with scenic experience.

And so our holiday in Switzerland went on, not a dull moment! Not even at the Customs sheds on the way back, where kind hearted officials smiled with understanding at the watches and drew crosses with blue chalk on so many cases and packs lightened at least by a little load of anxiety!

Tondon Tetter.

After journeying back to Bury St. Edmund's for the first time in eleven years, two things stand out very prominently. The first is that the Old Boys still manage to lose the annual cricket match. The second, and the more important, is the sense of pride that one feels. I should like to tell London readers, therefore, something about the Old Boys' week-end of 1947. In all about thirty Old Boys attended as well as those playing in the match and in the evening a very successful meeting was held. On Sunday morning three Old Boys accompanied the School to the Cathedral. It was no ordinary service. The 1914-18 War Memorial was beautifully decorated, the end of term bymn was sung, and at the end, whilst we were dispersing, the School Song was played. I wish more Old Boys could have been present. Perhaps there will be next G.E.C.T. year.

Bangor Tetter.

DEAR SIR,

The "University Life" depicted on the films and in novels is familiar to everyone, but bears little resemblance to the routine life of lectures and practicals which occupy most of a student's day.

At Bangor, as in all other colleges, this is especially true during this post-war period when the majority of students are ex-servicemen, all anxious to make up for the years they have lost during the war, and to leave college and settle into a career as soon as possible. The student who is fortunate enough to gain entrance straight from school may find it difficult to adjust himself to contemporaries of such different outlook and experience. As one who entered before the great rush of years my senior in age and experience studying courses that I covered at school age and experience studying courses that I

Another abnormality of college life at the present is the struggle for accommodation. In Bangor we are fortunate in having one of the most modern hostels in the country. However, it accommodates only eighty people and the majority of the students have to live in lodgings. These are extremely hard to find now-a-days due to the increase in numbers of undergraduates and to the difficulties of rationing. In Bangor these factors are accentuated by the small size of the town. Consequently many students find themselves crowded together into lodgings with little facility for private study. This shortage can only be removed by the building of new hostels which seems a remote possibility at the present time.

However, a student's life is for all work. Although the collural facilities of such a small town are imitted, the college provides many diverse activities around which the college social life centres. There are societies to suit the tastes of everyone, varying from music and art to politics and economics. In addition, there are the societies sponsored by the different college departments and small private societies. These societies hold their weekly meetings and occasional dances which are in addition to the usual weekly dances. Thus there is some function in college every night, and this profusion comes strangely after school where the social activities are limited, attendance at these events and one has to use one's discretion in choosing which to go to or else the whole week is occupied.

Over the week-ends there are no meetings and the Welsh Sunday would tend to become boring if it were not that we are lucky in Bangor in being able to get out into the countryide in a few minutes, either to the lovely Anglesse bays or among the mountains of Snowdomia. The latter are always fascinating and the Mountaineering Club has a large following who spend their week-ends walking or climbing among the mountains in every sort of weather.

As Bangor is a Welsh college there is naturally much Welsh spoken, but any English person coming to Bangor need have no fear that he will feel an outsider and I shall look forward to meeting Old Burians who may come here.

With best wishes to the School.

Yours sincerely,

C. A. H. HODGE.

A.T.C. Motes.

The early part of the Summer Term was devoted mainly to preparation for the Annual Inspection which was held on June 10th. The Inspecting Officer, Brigadier J. N. Slater, C.B.E., M.C., was chiefly concerned with seeing the normal training and spent a considerable time listening to instruction being given to the Certificate "A" classes by Cadet N.C.O.'s He completed his inspection by addressing the whole Contingents and congratulated all ranks on their turn-out and the high standard of their work. In his detailed report to the War Office, Brigadier Slater summarised as follows:—" A keen and capable Contingent who were well turned out and appeared keen and interested."

Two Field Exercises, conducted by the Staff of the IV.W.W. Camp at Hardwick, were held during the term in the Leklingham area. In the Leklingham area and a map exercise was also arranged by the senior Not strack and defence; the last was intended to give notice in advance guard work, but was somewhat marrely our obsession on the part of N.C.O.'s for flanking movements on all occasions. Another mistake which was made on all three exercises was misjudgment of distances, with a platoon trying to cover a front more suitable to a battalion. The Umpires emphasised these points in the discussions after the exercises and they should profit us on future field days.

We had an excellent Camp during the first week of the holidays at Roman Way, Colchester. The administration and most of the training were undertaken by regular army units, the weather was kind and the food was good, so that I don't think anybody had any serious complaints. What would have improved things as far as we were concerned was a larger contingent at Camp. Each J.T.C. Contingent had its own training programme, and as our junior N.C.O.'s were fully occupied with a special instructors' course, we were left with only two small sections for training. Satisfactory field exercises were therefore out of the question. I hope that next year a much larger number will attend Camp-that is the only solution of our training difficulties this year. Perhaps the most valuable part of the week's training was a series of demonstrations by regular army units, ranging from a fighting patrol carried out by a platoon of the Coldstream Guards to a trip round Harwich Harbour in landing craft. A number of N.C.O.'s and senior Cadets were also able to fire on the open ranges with rifles (303), L.M.G. and Mortars. On Visitors' Day, Mr. A. V. Alexander and the G.O.C. Eastern Command spent several hours in Camp inspecting the training, and after lunch in the Officers' Mess, spoke to all Cadet units in Camp.

R.C.C.

Scout Motes.

To avoid clashing with other activities we have again found it necessary to alter the time of our weekly meetings. It is hoped that this will now remain fixed on Monday evenings from 6.15 to 7.45, and that some additional meetings for special nourcoses can be held on Thursday afternoons.

The fine weather has enabled us to hold all our meetings as spent in preparation for the District Rally on June 21st. Both Troops acquitted themselves well; the monkey bridge was a great success, and the tent-pitching was done efficiently. Hart, the only King's Scout in the district, took charge of the flag ceremonies.

We much appreciate the help given by Mr. W. Brown during the term, especially in connection with the monkey bridge.

Mr. Hassall, unfortunately, is unable to be present at our entring meetings, but he has very kindly offered to run first-aid and other classes on suitable Thursday afternoons during the coming term.

The Summer Camp, held again at Bow Wood Farm, from 6th to 20th August, was favoured by exceptionally fine weather. There was no rain, and hardly a cloud in the sky throughout. Several trips were made to various parts of Dertyshire, and an interesting afternoon was spent seeing over the Butterley Iron Works. Swimming took a prominent place in the programme. We were very pleased to welcome our former A.S.M., Rood, who spent the last week with use

We are sorry to lose several of our senior scouts this Summer, and we wish them every success in their future work. In particular we would like to mention D. V. Hart, who has for some time been our only King's Scout and who has been in the troop for 5 years; also C. G. Haill, who joined the troop over 7 years ago and has always proved one of our leenest scouts. He has represented the troop at the Jamboree this summer.

Kiddy i., Thomas and Baker have been appointed P.L.'s.

The Troop competition for the term stands as follows:

Patrol.	P.L.	Points.
Kestrels	Seddon	67
Cobras	Marriott	34
Beavers	Baker	25
Stags	Thomas	23
Lions	Butterfield	191
Squirrels	Kiddy i.	19

Cub Motes

Early in May twelve Cubs much enjoyed going to the Birthday Party of the 1st Beyton Wolf Cub Pack. We are disappointed that we have been unable to fix up a proposed Rounders Match with them this term. Twenty-seven Cubs attended the Boy Scout Rally in the Abbey Gardens on June 21st, and demonstrated two games as part of the Cub contribution.

The County Wolf Cub Rally was held in Ipswich on July 19th, and our Pack was among the five hundred Cubs present. At the Camp Fire we presented a short play which was much appreciated.

We are losing several Cubs this term: some are going to other schools, and some will go up into the Scout Troop. We wish them all Good Hunting.

Although the weather has been mixed this term, games activities have not been seriously affected. Indeed, for the first time for years the Athletic Sports were held in brilliant weather.
